A BROKEN-DOWN SYSTEM.
This is a condition (or disease) to which doctors give many names, but which few of them really understand. It is simply weakness—a break-down, as it were, of the vital forces that sustain the system. No matter what may be its causes (for they are almost numberless), its symptoms are much the same; the more prominent being sleeplessness, sense of prostration or weariness, depression of spirits and want of energy for all the ordinary affairs of life. Now, what alone is absolutely essential in all such cases is increased vitality—vigour.
VITAL STRENGTH & ENERGY
to throw off these morbid feelings, and experience proves that as sight succeeds the day this may be more certainly secured by a course of the celebrated life-reviving tonic
THERAPION No. 3
than by any other known combination. So surely as it is taken in accordance with the printed directions accompanying it, will the shattered health be restored;
THE EXPIRING LAMP OF LIFE LIGHTED UP AFRESH,
and a new existence imparted in place of what had so lately seemed worn-out, "used up," and valueless. This wonderful restorative is purely vegetable and innocuous, is agreeable to the taste —suitable for all constitutions and conditions, in either sex; and it is difficult to imagine a case of disease or derangement, whose main features are those of debility, that will not be speedily and permanently benefited by this never-failing recuperative essence, which is destined to cast into oblivion everything that had preceded it for this wide-spread and numerous class of human ailments.
THERAPION is sold by the principal Chemists throughout the world. Price in England, 2/9 and 4/6. Purchasers should see that the word 'THERAPION' appears on British Government Stamp (in white letters on a red ground) affixed to every package by order of His Majesty's Hon. Commissioners, and without which it is a forgery.

BRAIN-FAG VS. SECRET OF SUCCESS.

BRAIN fag or loss of mental concentration, is one of the greatest disabilities a brain worker can suffer from. It prevents him doing full Justice to himself and forms a serious barrier to his success in life. If a man is to be efficient and successful, he must be possessed of a sound reliable memory; for memory is the basis of all brain work. The better the memory, the more active and prolific the brain.

PROF. JAMES'
ELECTRO-TONIC PEARLS.

Positively cure failing memory and restore Brain-Fag, Incapacity for study or business, General Debility, Premature Decay or Exhausted Vitality, the result of overwork.

Their marvellous curative effects are manifested from the first day of their administration by a remarkable increase of Nerve and Intellectual Power with a feeling of courage, strength and comfort. Digestion is invigorated, appetite increases wonderfully, bowels become regular, countenance clear and ruddy, the eyes bright, sight improved, the step and gait again elastic and determined, the temper cheerful, the brain again active, memory tenacious, bodily nourishment increased and energy restored.

BOMBAY MARKETS.

THURSDAY EVENING.] [27TH JUNE, 1907.

FINANCIAL.

Money :—
The Bank of Bengal Balance is Rs. 46 lacs up.

Exchange :—
The Market opened at 1/4 1/16 T.T. and 1/4 3/32 on demand, and although these rates are available at the close, several Banks are quoting 1/32 worse. At opening all Banks were buying Credits at 1/4 5/16 but very few bills came out. In the afternoon one or two Banks indicated that they would buy at 1/4 9/32 3 months' sight for the mail and a small amount of business was done on that basis. Far Eastern rates are steady. We quote :—

T. T. on London	...	1s. 4 1/16d. to 1s. 4 1/32d.
Demand Draft	...	1s. 4 3/32d. to 1s. 4 1/16d.

Do. 6 months' sight		1s. 4 1/2d. to 1s. 4 15/32d.
Do. 2 months' sight—France		170 3/4
Do. 3 months' sight—Marks		120 1/4
Hongkong—30 days' sight	...	161
Yokohama—30 days' sight	...	160 1/2
Shanghai—30 days' sight	...	160

Government Paper :—
The Market has been drooping during the day. The opening quotations were 96 11/16 for cash and the next two settlements. In view of the approach of the settlement there was a slight improvement in the near rate which closed at 96 3/4. The quotation for the second settlement fell 1/16 to 96 5/8 and this notwithstanding the considerable advance in the Bank of Bengal cash balance. There is no mention of the announcement of the New Loan, which is a pity as the Market will remain depressed and unsettled until Government make known their intention. Quotations close as under :—

Cash	... ...	Rs. 96·12
1st Settlement	... ...	" 96·12
2nd Settlement	... ...	" 96·10

Bullion :—
Reuter advises a further fall of 1/16 in the price of Bar silver in London ready closing at 30 15/16, and two months' delivery forward 31 1/16. New York is also lower, their quotation being 1/8 down at 67 1/4. There has been little doing in our local Market, quotations ruling steady as under. Bar gold is unchanged.

COTTON.

MARKET REPORT :—
The Market opened easier and prices have declined about Rs. 2 per candy all round, but the demand is still extremely limited, exporters apparently getting no encouragement from Home.

For ready cotton there was a small enquiry by shippers and mills, which was readily met by holders. Prices were easier and should the demand not improve it is possible we may see lower rates shortly.

ILLICIT GAMING.—At the Mazagon Police Court yesterday, before Mr. C. H. Setalwad, Fourth Presidency Magistrate, Inspector Lewis prosecuted Moideen Salay and twenty other Mahomedans, for gaming with cards and money in a common gaming house. From the evidence it appeared that on information, Inspector Lewis, with others, raided house No. 377 in Northbrook Road, at midnight on Wednesday. All the accused were found gaming with two packets of cards and small cash. Seeing the police, three of the accused, Nos. 19, 20 and 21, jumped out of a window on to the roof of an adjacent house, but they were also re-arrested. Four of the accused, Nos. 1, 10, 11 and 12, pleaded guilty to the charge, while the rest pleaded not guilty. On the evidence, His Worship convicted all the accused and ordered each of them to pay a fine of Rs. 10, with an alternative of seven days' rigorous imprisonment.

TERRITORY OF DOUBTFUL VALUE.

SOMALILAND is now one of the unprofitable provinces of the British Empire, retained only for the all-sufficient reason that its chief port, Berbera, the one secure harbour of that coast lies close upon the flank of the Indian trade-route. Thus "Arcturus" in the Monthly Review describes a country over which a good deal of money has been expended with little apparent result. "A patch of ground," he terms it, "that hath in it no profit but the name," adding that the country contains nothing which appeals to the material instincts of the business mind of Europe. No minerals have yet been discovered ; there are no industries ; agriculture does not exist ; and, except in Berbera and a few coast villages, there are no settled communities. The desert, the wild scrub and the rainfall render village life impossible and leave to the Somali tribes, whose origin and racial affinities are still obscure, no source of wealth save the natural increase of their flocks and herds. In fact, the country of the Somalis is too poor to attract the attention of the dwellers in richer lands. Yet to take that country three separate forces were organised, the last consisting of seventeen thousand men from India. It is not a very pleasant subject to ruminate upon, but having taken the land we must keep it and render it safe against the raids of the Mad Mullah or any other Somali adventurer. The writer approaches Berbera and to him the coast vividly suggests that this part of it has recently risen from the sea—"in imagination, one can still see the water washing round the barren stony islands and extending right up to the foot of the hills." He describes a forest of masts, such a gathering as has occurred every year at the season he refers to—for all ages past, beyond the memory of man and constant as the monsoon itself, these same types of ships have moored in Berbera harbour. "From the great buggalow of Muscat, with its high poop and windowed stern of richly carved, time-stained wood, down to that small double-ended sambook, whose crew are not altogether ignorant of the methods of gun-running, those types were specialised triumphs of the shipbuilder's art centuries ago, and have survived to the present day.

Berbera's trade is not great. It includes dates from the Persian Gulf and a business in grain and general odds and ends, besides the passenger traffic and the skin export across the Gulf of Aden : but the modern coasting steamer has cut deeply into whatever freights are to be had and "it is only by reason of the infinitesimal working expenses of the native sailing craft and the small volume of trade from each of the coast villages, that these beautiful relics of a by-gone age continue to exist." There is reason to believe that at one time the trade was greater, and "Arcturus" seems to be of opinion that the Arabia Aromatica of the Romans was the Somaliland of the present day and probably owed its name to the frankincense trees which there, as now, flourished in large numbers along the crest of the Golis mountains. The trade is shown still to exist and a few country craft are engaged in it to this day ; but the demand for frankincense in large quantities ceased with the disappearance of Pagan religions from Europe and the ritual of modern times consumes but a small fraction of that which was burnt in the worship and invocation of the gods of antiquity. The writer gives an excellent pen-picture of the town—of its white-washed Government buildings, its Custom House and police-quarters, its new tank and the Commissioner's bungalow near the beach. He takes us into the interior, far into which the sea once rolled, but he indulges in no speculation as to how the arid land might be made fertile, how that which is now barren might be transformed into a well-watered, productive country. Perhaps it may never be, but that will probably be the result of the machinations of men like the Mad Mullah, in whose madness there appears to be very considerable method. His story is briefly related. We know that at one time he was interpreter to the East India Squadron. Mahommed Abdullah, by name, at the age of twenty-eight he returned to Aden for a pilgrimage to Mecca. Like other mullahs he preached and read in the mosques until receiving a call he went over to Berbera and "combining religious fervour with some well considered judgments in cases of tribal disputes," he collected many adherents from the most valiant of the Somali tribes. Since that time, the writer puts it, "he has managed by threatenings, by massacre and by plunder, to keep together a large force ; he has fought with Abyssinia, with Great Britain and with powerful Somali tribes ; though many times defeated he is to-day the head of a large following and the acknowledged ruler of the Nogal Valley ; his caravans trade with Berbera, he has agents in Aden and his position is fairly secure."

Yet the country is not without charm to those who are capable of appreciating it. "Arcturus" gives us some delightful little glimpses of it. "Though it is now broad daylight," he writes in one place, "there are yet a few minutes before the dazzling brightness of the sunrise and we are enjoying the most exquisite moments of the day. The distant mountains are clear and sharp, the air is cool and sweet and a marvellous silence reigns over the desert, broken only by the soft paddings of the camels' feet and the gentle tinkle of the bell. The few natives in sight are at their morning devotions. There where they have slept, under the thorn-bush, behind the shelter of the hillock, or in the bottom of the dry water-course, the men of this country all pray at sunrise. Ablution, prayer, prostration." He knows and has studied the people and tells us much of their condition and habits. He is acquainted with both flora and fauna and tells us how, soon after leaving Berbera, the wild animals begin to show themselves, many troops of gazelles, gray, fawn and white, feeding on the young green shoots, furtively watching the approach of his caravan, going off like the wind when finally decided it is dangerous. He tells us of a grass-covered plateau on the hills, where great cedars, sixty feet high, grow as in a park, of a walk of four miles along the edge of the plateau, across wide stretches of grass and through groves of box, acacia, and the candelabra-like euphorbia. Here and there he examines evidences of the mountain terraces having once risen as majestic cliffs, sheer from the loud-sounding sea, where, as the hand of nature left it, is laid bare a clear-writ page of the world's record. Slowly and steadily some earth movement has been at work, raising the great plateau of Somaliland to its present position, and what was once the floor of the ocean is now six thousand feet above the level of the sea. What that plateau may ultimately develop into and what treasures may be found buried deep in the soil is still unknown. Pasturage is extending and mineral wealth may yet be discovered and future writers may tell us of hives of industry disturbing the delightful spirit of contemplation which possessed the soul of "Arcturus" as he travelled through the lovely stillness of the land, under the glittering arch of night, and of the now placid mountains being the scenes of the turmoil and struggle and dust of the daily round of work.

THE KING'S BIRTHDAY.

ONCE more the flags are flying over Bombay and business is suspended in honour of the birthday of the King-Emperor, and once more half the citizens are asking the other half why the celebration of King Edward's sixty-sixth birthday should take place four months and eleven days before His Majesty has reached that age. It is difficult to find a reason ; and the only justification probably lies in the fact that it is at this time of the year that the King's birthday is officially celebrated in London. But the reason for that is obvious. On the occasion of the King's birthday a striking military pageant takes place on the Horse Guards Parade called the Trooping of the Colour. This splendid spectacle attracts many thousands of well-to-do people from the country to the privileged stands specially erected around the Parade Ground, and many thousands of Londoners to the Park, who watch the show from beneath the trees. His Majesty and the Queen are invariably present, and this, the only great display in honour of the King's birthday in England, is the attraction of the week to the folk at Home. His Majesty was born on November 9th, 1841. Now it so happens that November 9th is Lord Mayor's Show Day, and, notwithstanding the puerile efforts of late years to get the Show abolished, the historic progress of London's Chief Magistrate to Temple Bar always draws a mighty crowd to the City. Hence, to celebrate the King's birthday on November 9th would be to set up a rival attraction to that of the Lord Mayor. That would never do, nor would King Edward entertain the idea for a moment. In the old days no such predicament presented itself, as Queen Victoria's birthday was towards the end of May, when a warm air and bright sunshine might reasonably be expected for the spectacle on the Horse Guards. But when the present reign began, the new monarch wisely appointed a day about the beginning of the summer for the Parade, in order that it might not become a rival to the Lord Mayor's Show.

There is therefore the best of all possible reasons for not celebrating the anniversary of the King's advent into the world on the right date in London. But even if the Lord Mayor's Show did not fall on November 9th, it is doubtful whether the Trooping of the Colour would be carried out on that date, as the Metropolis is likely to be treated to a "London particular" any day in November, and nowhere is the fog more pea-soupy than in the neighbourhood of the Park and the River, while a fall of snow or a downpour of rain would spoil thousands of bright uniforms and pretty toilettes. It is plain, therefore, that the King's birthday could not be celebrated in London on the proper date. But none of the reasons for altering the date obtain in India. Exactly the opposite is the case. Instead of the selected date in India being the day when the troops could make a brave show, and the people go out and enjoy themselves, it is the date when rain is momentarily expected and the weather uncomfortably hot. So patent is this, that this morning, instead of the various regiments mustering in one "stern array," they are largely confined to their own parade grounds lest the rain descend. Further, unlike in Britain, business is suspended for the day, when it is less possible to enjoy a holiday than at any other period of the Indian year.

If the King's birthday was celebrated on the right date, November 9th, the cool weather would perhaps have set in, and there would be practically no risk of rain. And such a celebration would have an assurance of reality about it, and it would save local Governments from the position of one day celebrating a King's birthday which His Majesty may not live to attain. Lots of things may happen in four months and eleven days ! Not that the Indian Government is unaware of the error it committed in appointing a day in June for the celebration. Last year the Madras Chamber of Commerce addressed a letter to the Government of India, asking that the public holidays should be May 24th, Empire Day, and the 9th of November, (King Edward's birthday.) The Bombay Chamber of Commerce, however, did not agree with the Madras Chamber in advocating a public holiday on May 24th (Empire Day) : but they were "completely in accord with the views of the Madras Chamber with reference to the King-Emperor's Birthday" and therefore they "strongly supported the suggestion that the 9th November was the proper and most suitable day for the celebration of His Majesty's birthday throughout India." The Bombay Chamber also recommended "that Whit Monday should be considered a public holiday in India as it was already observed both in the United Kingdom and the Colonies." For these recommendations adequate reasons were given, though we are not aware that either of the Chambers pointed out the potent reasons why the King's birthday is not celebrated in London on the proper date, and which, as we have shown, make it impossible that it could be. We believe the answer given to the Chambers by the Government of India was that the King himself had fixed June 26th (or about that date) for the official celebration. King Edward, of all men, is open to a sweet reasonableness in all things, and knowing the ways of the "Circumlocution Office" we are forced to the opinion that the fixing of June for the official celebration in India seems more likely the work of some Jack-in-office in the Lord Chamberlain's Department.

DR. KIPLING AND DR. TWAIN.

WHEN Prince Arthur of Connaught shook hands with the Vice-Chancellor in the Sheldonian Theatre at Oxford on Wednesday he became the youngest Doctor of Civil Law in Britain, as he has still to see his twenty-fourth birthday. He may, too, have created a record in this respect—at any rate we can recall no other Prince who has been honoured with the handsome scarlet cloth and crimson silk hood of Oxford's D. C. L. at so early an age. The Prince of Wales was years older than Prince Arthur when he became a "Dr." of Oxford. The nearest approach to Prince Arthur's record was probably that of the eldest son of King Edward and Queen Alexandra, the late Prince Clarence of Avondale, who was hooded by the University of Cambridge at the age of twenty-four. Two of our Royal ladies are Doctors : the Princess of Wales being entitled to the fanciful hood of a Musical Doctor of the University of Wales, and Princess Henry of Battenberg being an honorary LL.D. of Glasgow. It is interesting to note that the two distinguished Americans whom Oxford honoured on Wednesday,—Mr. Whitelaw Reid, the Ambassador, and Mark Twain—have several strange affinities which must make them excellent companions. They both began life as newspaper reporters in the West ; they both made fortunes with their pens ; they both "married money ;" and, when they appeared in the Sheldonian Theatre at Oxford two days ago in their new hoods, they were both already well used to the academic role. The American Ambassador, indeed, is not only LL.D., of Princeton and Yale, but has for years possessed the scarlet silk and white satin hood of that degree in the Scottish University of St. Andrews, while for five years he has possessed an even more highly prized hood—the cherry silk of Cambridge's LL.D. This degree, it may be mentioned, is not granted by Oxford. Mr. Kipling, too, started life in a newspaper office—so that pressmen may be said to have been well represented. The features of most of the new doctors are familiar to the public through the medium of the illustrated Press, but the handsomest of the group must have been General Booth, and Herkomer, who was himself honoured on the same occasion, could scarcely have escaped the thought of how noble a study the venerable Salvationist in his new scarlet gown would be for next year's Academy. Amongst the colleges represented by Oxford's newest doctors Balliol is easily first, with seven —Lord Loreburn, Lord Chancellor of England, Sir Edward Grey, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs ; Dr. Warre, ex-Head-master of Eton ; Professor Dicey ; the Earl of Jersey, late Governor-General of New South Wales, Mr. Warren, President of Magdalen, who all received the D. C. L., and Mr. Sidney Lee, who becomes D. Litt.

UNEMPLOYED GENTLEMEN.

MR. BASIL TOZER, in the National Review has a suggestive article on the "Unemployed Gentleman." He marvels at the number of specimens of his kind to be found throughout England and the number of applicants the smallest salary draws when advertised. After discussing the matter exhaustively the only conclusion Mr. Tozer arrives at is that the one opening there is at present for a great proportion of the sons of gentlemen is the opening afforded by the career of a tradesman. The younger sons of peers resorted to trade years ago and there is no reason why they should not do so now. It does not sound alluring, probably it is not alluring, Mr. Tozer confesses, but it has at least this to recommend it—the field is a wide one and the prizes may be described as "numerous and costly" where the candidate has ability, determination and a certain sum of money to start with and a modicum of luck. He is firmly persuaded that unemployed who are gentlemen by education, if not also by birth, turn towards the sons of traders with eyes of envy and inwardly anathematise the fates that made their own fathers impecunious country squires, army officers, briefless barristers, clergymen, solicitors, doctors and so on, instead of well-to-do traders.

THE P. & O. Company's s.s. Arabia, with the outward Mails of the 21st instant, left Suez at 11 p. m., on Wednesday.

THE Florio-Rubattino Company's steamer Ischia sailed yesterday from Colombo for Singapore and Hongkong.

THE N. Y. K. steamer Hiroshima Maru left Colombo for Bombay, yesterday and is due here on Sunday, the 30th instant.

THE Bank of Bombay yesterday reduced its rate for Demand Loans on the security of Government Paper to five per centum per annum, rates for other business being subject to arrangement.

A MARRIAGE has been arranged and will take place in January between Captain C. C. Newnham, VIth King Edward's Own Cavalry, and Margaret Elizabeth, daughter of the late Captain W. E. Cookson, Royal Navy.

OUR attention has been drawn to a report, which is gaining credence in Bombay, that Dr. Davar, dentist, has retired from practice. We are asked to contradict the report which has no foundation whatever.

IT is pointed out that Mr. Logan was prohibited from replying to Sir Pherozeshah Mehta's comments, by the rules of debate prevailing in the Council. We believe that this is generally understood, and, of course, it explains why Sir Pherozeshah's challenge was responded to by Mr. Muir Mackenzie and not by Mr. Logan.

THE St. Petersburg Rossiya, in an inspired article, ridicules the reports published by the Echo de Paris alleging that a Russo-German agreement is being negotiated regarding the Far East and Poland. The Rossiya treats similarly the assertion that Germany has offered Russia a loan in return for naval contracts.

THE total number of deaths registered in Bombay during the week ending June 25 was 565, giving a death-rate of 35·58 per annum per thousand, as against 49·38 in the corresponding period of last year, and 40·54 the average over the past five years. Of the total number, 46 died from fevers ; 16, plague ; 2, small-pox ; 2, measles ; 1, cholera ; 1, leprosy ; 41, phthisis ; 31, diseases of the nervous system ; 160, affections of the respiratory organs ; 33, diarrhœa ; 16, dysentery ; 34, still-born ; 78, old age and debility ; 18, accidents and violence. The classified list of deaths shows :—Jain, 15 ; Brahmin, 21 ; Lingast, 4 ; Bhattia, 5 ; Hindu of other caste, 235 ; Hindu low caste, 57 ; Musalman, 145 ; Parsee, 27 ; Jew, 2 ; and Native Christian, 18 ; Eurasian, 2. The total number of births was 312, as against 357 in the corresponding period of last year, and 342 the average over the past five years. The rate of mortality according to the new census was 28·23 per thousand.

IT is reported that the Japanese authorities have decided to lay a submarine cable between Korea and Japan, to be used exclusively by both countries. The expense will be included in next year's Budget. At present the cable between the two countries is hired from the Great Northern Telegraph Company involving high telegraphic charges.

WOMEN'S INTERESTS.

A BRILLIANT COURT.

Gala Performance at the Opera.

(FROM OUR LADY CORRESPONDENT.)
LONDON, JUNE 7.

The third Court of the season passed off brilliantly last night. The June Court, coming as it does when the London season is at its height, is always a notable social function and, in addition, Thursday's Court celebrated the return of the Queen to town. The presence of their Majesties has a marked effect on the season, for ever since King Edward ascended the throne he has done all in his power to give a fillip to trade by entertaining largely himself when he is at the palace, and so setting the example to others.

Wonderful gowns, scintillating with gems, were therefore the order of the night. Diamonds sparkled from every corner of the Throne Room, and hot-house flowers sent forth a heavy fragrance. Society beauties too were more in evidence than at the previous Courts. The Countess of Lytton, once the beautiful Pamela Plowden, looked lovely indeed in cream tulle trimmed with pearls and a rose pink and gold train, and Mrs. Herbert Gladstone, the prettiest of all the Ministerial ladies, was becomingly toilette-ted in shot blue silver gauze, veiled with green net and trimmed with silver. The colour scheme was novel and just a little daring, but it suited the wife of the Home Secretary to perfection.

Everyone has remarked how well the Queen looks after her holiday. The gift of perennial youth seems to have been bestowed on her and when one looks at the graceful erect figure, so girlish in its outlines, the clear blue eyes, and the still beautiful complexion, one can hardly believe that a certain young cadet at the Royal Naval College at Osborne calls their owner, grandmother.

The Queen's Court gown was mauve, with Indian embroideries of gold, a pleasing change from the all black robes which she has worn at the last few Courts. A tiara of diamonds adorned her head, and rubies, diamonds and emeralds flashed in the corsage.

THE DEBUTANTES.

There were several important presentations last night. One of the most interesting debutantes was the Hon. Louvina Knollys, the Queen's god-daughter. Miss Knollys, who is a charmingly pretty girl, wore a very simple gown of white satin veiled with tulle lightly worked with silver paillettes. A design of Louis Seize baskets filled with roses was embroidered round the hem and the train.

A daughter of the house of Grosvenor also made her bow last night when Katherine, Duchess of Somerset, presented her young daughter Lady Helen Grosvenor. She wore silk muslin, white of course, but glittering with silver paillettes, and the soft satin train was embroidered with silver roses. America sent many of its fairest girls to make their curtsey. One of the most charming of them was Miss Grace, whose father it may be recalled bought Battle Abbey, the historic castle which came into the market after the death of its last owner the venerable Duchess of Cleveland, the mother of Lord Roseberry. Miss Grace wore white crepe de chine of a curiously heavy make. It was made in classical style and embroidered in a Greek design of silver.

THE COURT BOUQUET.

The Court florists on whom the sun of good times has not been inclined to shine too genially of late had cause to rejoice last night. The costly Court bouquet which fashionable women have shown rather a desire to boycott at recent Courts had returned to power and there was hardly a woman present who did not carry a bouquet. Lady Helen Grosvenor, one of the debutantes I have just mentioned, carried white roses and lilies of the valley. "Enchantress" roses composed Lady Beatrice Pole-Carew's beautiful bouquet and Lady Lytton also carried roses. Lady Iona Pole-Carew, another debutante, carried lilies. Lady Nairns' bouquet was of the choicest mauve orchids and her debutante daughter struck a novel note with her bouquet of sweetpeas.

GALA NIGHT AT THE OPERA.

Next week will be given up to entertaining our guests Their Majesties of Denmark, and we are preparing a Royal welcome for the Danish King and Queen, who arrive in town to-morrow. Except on Sunday when our own King and Queen and the King and Queen of Denmark will motor to Windsor and have a family luncheon party at the Castle, the entertaining will be of a public character, for the Danish visitors are guests of State.

The gala night at Covent Garden on Tuesday is the event most exciting popular interest. The entire structure of the Opera House will on that occasion be hidden by roses. Over a quarter of a million blooms, the choicest obtainable in England and France, will be utilised for the decoration. Louis Seize baskets of roses ranging in the tone from the faintest pink to the deepest crimson will hang from every box, and each box will be covered with a lattice-work of greenery, festooned with pink roses and surmounted with medallions on which the initials "E. and F." in honour of our own King and Frederic of Denmark will be picked out in red roses. Crimson roses will decorate the proscenium arch in lavish profusion. Everywhere, in fact, the Queen of flowers will be in evidence except in the Royal Box itself, improvised by the way by throwing half a dozen boxes in the centre of the grand tier into one. The Royal box will be a mass of orchids, mauve and white and yellow. A vast dome of orchids surmounts it and on the background of greenery will be entwined the initials "E. and F." and the English and Danish Royal arms in roses. The cost of the roses alone is estimated at several thousands of pounds.

The great Opera House will present an extraordinarily brilliant scene. Subscriptions have been deferred to another night and so the ancient aristocracy, ousted on other occasions by the American plutocrat, will be in their own places. Practically every adult member of the Royal family now in England will be present—the Court has retained a couple of hundred stalls as well as several boxes. A couple of boxes on the pit tier have been reserved for the Indian princes now on a visit to this country. The price of a box is fifty guineas and a humble seat in the topmost balcony is four guineas.

The programme designed for the occasion is a lovely thing printed on white satin, the colouring being a harmony of delicate shades of gold, green blue and pink. A Gala night programme has a peculiar value and the collector will pay heavy prices for them in the sale room.

ANOTHER SPANISH INVASION.

It was perhaps to be expected that we should have an epidemic of Spanish dances as a result of our entente with Spain. Spanish ballads have temporarily taken the place of coster ditties in the music halls and half the music one listens to in the restaurants at night is Spanish too.

Not content with their capture of the "halls" Spanish dances have invaded the ball room, the juvenile ball room as yet, but who can say if they will stop there. The "Guraacha" a very old but little known Spanish dance is among the importations. It was danced this week at a fashionable boy and girl party, the particular form adopted having been handed down for a couple of hundred years in a noble Spanish family. More graceful but rather boisterous is the "Sarabanda" a dance of the twelth century. When it is explained that the word "Sarabanda" means noise, some notion of the character of the dance may be obtained. Efforts are also being made by the teachers of dancing in Mayfair and Belgravia, who are now making a point of Spanish dances, to revive one or two of the set dances so common at any market fair in old Seville.

THE BELATED SUMMER.

Can it really be June ? everyone is asking. The calender tells us it is so, but the Clerk of the Weather seems determined to turn on samples of mid-winter weather. June—the month of roses, of flowery hats and green lawns and gaily painted punts—has been ushered in with biting winds and heavy rains. A blinding rain-storm wrought havoc on the pretty hats at Epsom on Derby Day.

The modistes and milliners of the West End are in the depths of despair. It is June and fashionable feminity is still shivering under winter furs. The pretty muslin frocks, the flower hats remain neglected in the shops. The very idea of a sunshade makes one smile. Sunny days may dawn and the tardy summer yet put in a belated appearance, but the mischief is already done and the summer of 1907 will be full of painful memories to the West End tradesmen. For we are within three weeks of the July sales and all the dainty summer finery that should have been sold at May and June prices will have to be "sacrificed"—to use the language of the sale catalogue—at prices very little over and sometimes actually below what it cost.

DERBY NIGHT DINNER.

Another of the great outstanding social events of the season took place on Wednesday night when, according to her usual custom, which by the way she broke last year when the Queen was in mourning, the Duchess of Devonshire gave her night-of-the Derby dinner, which Queen Alexandra attended. The dinner was followed by a ball to which the King and all the members of the Jockey Club dining with him—the King's Jockey Club dinner is another Derby Day institution—came on from Buckingham Palace.

Devonshire House had been transformed into a veritable bower of flowers for the occasion. The dining-table was richly bedecked with the choicest of roses, and the ball and reception rooms were also beautifully decorated with flowers. The broad staircase leading to the principal apartments was lost in a floral avenue and the hall at the foot of it was dealt with in a most effective manner, the centre of the scheme being a gigantic vase, from which sprang a gracefully drooping array of choice plants, simulating a fountain.

Everybody wears their smartest toilettes at Devonshire House, and the ball room on Wednesday night was indeed a magnificent sight. The brilliant uniforms, the wonderful dresses and jewels, and the splendid decorations made a scene that few who were privileged to view would easily forget.

Among the members of the Royal family present besides the King and Queen were the Prince of Wales, the Duke of Connaught, and Princess Christian.

VETERANS OF THE MUTINY.

Just fifty years ago the terrible scenes of the Indian Mutiny were thrilling England with horror, and now to mark the jubilee—if the word can be used in such a connection—of that tragic event in the history of our Empire, the King paid special honour at the third Levee of the season at St. James' on Tuesday to a distinguished group of veterans who fought at Delhi and Lucknow.

Despite the cold and cheerless weather, the announcement that His Majesty was giving special invitations to the surviving heroes of the Mutiny attracted thousands of sightseers and not the least enthusiastic of those who watched the passage of the procession was a little group of three on the garden wall of Marlborough House—Prince Albert and Prince Henry of Wales and Princess Mary.

Among those presented to the King were Field Marshal Lord Roberts, who introduced a body of officers who fought at Delhi, General Sir D. Digby Barker, who introduced the surviving defenders of Lucknow, and Lieutenant-General Sir Gordon Pritchard who was with the relieving force at Lucknow.

THE POONA SEASON.

Chiffons at the Cinderella.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)
POONA, JUNE 26.

The first Cinderella of the "Season" took place in the Gymkhana on Monday night last, when a great number of couples turned up to enjoy a thoroughly cheery little dance, though the fine hall was never inconveniently crowded throughout. The rain which had fallen in the afternoon made the atmosphere more "muggy" than was exactly pleasant for dancing, and the floor soon became very sticky and gritty after successive couples had gone out to the "beach" in search of a balmy breeze or to inspect the silvery stars ! Only the young, the gay and the frivolous, and those who are really keen on dancing attend these fortnightly Cindrellas, so they are generally very enjoyable functions, as merry as the proberbial marriage bell. Pretty frocks and pretty faces were to be seen in profusion. Mrs. McGill looked stately in cream lace, outlined with black, with touches of pink on the bodice, the same colour-notes being repeated in the sash of broad chine ribbon. Mrs. Quin, who always loves a dance, was wearing a smartly cut gown of a peculiar shade of French blue. I noticed more black dresses than one usually sees at dances, amongst others who affected the colour being Mrs. Venn Elder to whom it seems particularly becoming. Mrs. Veidham, in pale blue, was looking very pretty, and finding partners galore. Mrs. Umfreville looked well in a white gown, softly trimmed with lace, while Mrs. Stewart was also in white, with pink blossoms in hair and corsage. Mrs. Hamilton wore a dainty frock of a sensible dancing length, with masses of pansies of slightly deeper colouring in her coiffure. Mrs. Graves, in a becoming costome of reseda green, was chaperoning her sister, Miss Petley, who looked pretty and girlish in a white net, made in the Empire style, with pink roses in her Gretchen blonde hair. Miss McMaster, who has come up from Bombay for the Season, wore a charming confection in the new shade, perhaps best described as smoke-blue, with garniture of chiffon and shimmering spangles. Miss Alexander, in rose-pink, seemed to be enjoying herself thoroughly, while Mrs. Grafton Young, who is always well-turned-out, looked smart in a pretty dress of blue-grey nuances. Amongst many others I noticed Mrs. Searle, who is to be with us for a little time, I hear ; Mrs. Alexander, Mrs. Aplin, in white, Miss McIver in a pretty blue, Miss Forbes, from Bombay, also in blue, and Mrs. Martin, who wore rich chiffon taffetas, recalling My Lady's "dainty flowered gown" in Hope Temple's charming chanson.

Perhaps I might venture to remark to the bandmaster—albeit with all due respect, he being the man at the wheel—that variations of tempo, however indispensable to a musicianly rendering of classical music, are anathema to a dancer, and that the principal requisite of good dance music is absolute, undeviating, irreproachable time

Following on my remarks in the these columns lately anent "calling," I noticed with interest a letter in a Poona contemporary, written evidently by a young subaltern. He requests ladies to be "at Home" more frequently, when they really are at home, or asks them to see, at least, that their boxes are placed on the outer gate-posts, when they are not receiving. With regard to the latter point, the writer of the letter evidently does not know that many ladies purposely have their "not at home" boxes on view in their verandahs instead of on the gate-post, firstly because boxes are often stolen, or the cards get lost or mislaid, and secondly, because many men never call till the box is outside ! They apparently have no wish to make the acquaintance of the lady of the house, but having an idea that to call is the correct thing, they cycle or drive up and down the roads dropping cards into any box which presents itself, thereby entailing on the ladies' husbands much unnecessary trouble in returning the calls, for the acquaintanceship is evidently not meant to go any further. It seems to me that I have not infrequently heard, too, of young subalterns who hand their cards to the servants and walk away without ever waiting to hear if the lady is at home or not ! After such an act of rudeness is it any wonder that a young fellow sometimes gets snubbed by an indignant mem-sahib ?

PEREGRINA.

A MAHOMEDAN GRIEVANCE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "BOMBAY GAZETTE."

SIR,—In your issue of the 14th I commented on the 56th Lesson of the II Part of the Gujerati Sixth Book whereupon some interpellations were made at the Legislative Council recently held at Poona. The Hon. Mr. Selby in reply to the Hon. Mr. Ibrahim Rahimatoola's question regarding the Lesson, said that there was a Mahomedan member on the Text Book Revision Committee who was shown the translation of the said 56th Lesson and a similar lesson also appeared in the Marathi 5th Book which was not objected to. Students of literature will fully understand that the English translation of a lesson in any oriental language cannot in any way produce the same effect as re

THE WAR ON THE LORDS.

GOVERNMENT RESOLUTION ADOPTED.

Abolition Rejected.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, JUNE 27.

In the House of Commons, Sir H. Campbell-Bannerman's Resolution regarding the House of Lords was adopted by 432 votes to 147, after the amendment of the Labour Members, urging the abolition of the House of Lords, had been rejected by 315 to 100.

THE HAGUE CONFERENCE.

Britain's Proposal on Contriband of War.

WAR TO BE PRECEDED BY A DECLARATION.

LONDON, JUNE 27.

The British Government has submitted to the Hague Conference a proposal to abolish contraband of sea. The right to visit vessels would then be merely exercised to establish the neutral character of merchant ships.

The restriction imposed by blockades would still continue. Also the prohibition of sale of actual or potential warships to belligerents.

The British proposal regarding Prize Courts embraces an international permanent court which would hear appeals where the interests of Neutrals are affected.

The German proposal is more complicated. It provides for the formation of a special Court after the outbreak of hostilities.

France has proposed that hostilities must be preceded by a declaration of war or an ultimatum with a conditional declaration.

TERRITORIAL FORCES BILL.

Passed through the Lords.

LONDON, JUNE 27.

In the House of Lords, the second reading of Army Bill was passed unanimously.

ANARCHY IN TIFLIS.

Victims of Organized Robbery.

£25,000 STOLEN.

LONDON, JUNE 26.

The object of the bomb-throwers at Tiflis was to rob £25,000 which was being escorted from the Post Office to the Bank.

The whole sum was stolen amidst the panic due to the bursting of the bombs.

The number of fatalities is uncertain.

THE DUKE OF DEVONSHIRE.

Slight Improvement in Health.

LONDON, JUNE 27.

The daily bulletins regarding the Duke of Devonshire are reserved in tone, but he is improving slightly.

PONDICHERRY CONVICT SETTLEMENT.

Escape of Bengali Desperadoes.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

CALCUTTA, JUNE 27.

Six Bengalis, all desperate characters, who were convicted by the French Court at Chandernagore and were inmates of the Convict Settlement at Pondicherry, have made their escape and are now at large. The police authorities there have sent information to Calcutta in anticipation of their returning to their old haunts.

The escaped men are Bholanath Dass and Kristo Dass, both Bairagis, Mohadeo Sukul, Soura Chamar, Dhounan Chamar and Rogendranath Mukerjee. The two Bairagis were serving life sentences for robbery with violence, and Mukerjee was in jail for robbery.

They are all young men and well known to the Calcutta and Bengal Police.

The Bairagis were suspects in a double murder which was perpetrated in Calcutta two and a half years ago, in which two Bengali ladies aged 75 and 80, respectively, who lived in the northern part of the town and were known to be well-to-do, were found one morning dead and their house looted ; and in both the cases the murder had been accomplished by strange means which pointed to foul play and as the work of professional murderers.

The murderers at the time got away with a large quantity of jewellery and money.

The murders occurred immediately after the Sova Bazaar murder, but were never detected.

MAJOR HAIG'S DEPARTURE.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

HYDERABAD, JUNE 27.

Major Haig, the First Assistant Resident, has been called away abruptly by the Government of India to proceed to Simla and act as Assistant Secretary, Foreign Department, for three months, after which he will proceed to take up his permanent duty as Resident at Ulwar. He leaves to-morrow evening via Aurangabad.

All the Pleaders met him at the Residency Court this afternoon. Mr. Forbes, as senior Pleader, addressed a few farewell words expressing high appreciation of his amiability and courtesy towards practitioners and the regard and esteem with which he was held by them and the public, and their extreme regret at parting with him. The various entertainments that had been arranged showed his popularity; and he wished him godspeed and prosperity.

Major Haig in replying said he was overpowered and could hardly say anything. He was himself sorry to leave his friends, especially as he had to go away abruptly after staying in their midst for six years. He thanked the Pleaders assembled for their farewell words and also for the help he had received from them throughout his tenure of office.

Captain Minchin takes over charge to-morrow of the duties of First Assistant Resident.

BENGAL CIVIL COURT PROCESS.

Marwari Memorial for Amendment of Procedure.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

CALCUTTA, JUNE 27.

The Calcutta Marwari Association has memorialized the Government of Bengal on the subject of the present unsatisfactory procedure in connection with the service of Civil Court summons.

They are of opinion that the procedure at present in vogue in the Civil Courts of Bengal in this connection stands in need of amendment so as to ensure, to a greater degree than at present, the service of summons and other process upon the parties concerned and thus to minimise the number of exparte decrees.

RECENT STORM IN CALCUTTA.

Damage to Telegraphs, Telephones, and Railways.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

CALCUTTA, JUNE 27.

Enquires have elicited the information that the Telegraph system in Calcutta and its vicinity suffered severely in the recent storm. An area of 100 miles was involved, and the resources of the Department were taxed to the uttermost in repairing the damages.

All the railways running into Calcutta were affected, communication between certain stations being closed for some hours on Monday ; but all repairs were concluded by 5 p.m. to-day.

The Bengal Telephone Company were also heavy sufferers.

UPPER INDIA RAILWAYS.

Probable Changes in the Personnel.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

ALLAHABAD, JUNE 27.

Mr. S. Finney, C. I. E., retires from the Management of the North-Western Railway next September under the 55 years rule. The Pioneer believes it is probable that Mr. Burt, the Manager of the Eastern Bengal State Railway, who is now at Home on leave, will succeed Mr. Finney at Lahore, Colonel Cowie, R. E., Officiating Manager of the Eastern Bengal State Railway being confirmed at Sealdah. But these appointments have not been definitely settled.

Another retirement this autumn among Railway Managers will be that of Mr. E. F. Jacob, C. I. E., Manager of the Oudh and Rohilkhand Railway. It is not settled who will succeed him.

AMIR'S INDIAN TOUR.

Memento to an Indian Attache.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

ALLAHABAD, JUNE 27.

His Majesty the Amir expressed a wish before leaving India that some mark of his appreciation should be shown to Indian Attachés whose services contributed in no small degree to his comfort and the enjoyment of his tour in India.

Sir Henry McMahon decided that the most suitable form of a memento would be an inscribed watch. His Majesty, in accordance, has sent as a gift a handsome gold watch, with suitable inscription, to Kazi Aziz-ud-din Ahmed Khan, Bahadur, the Deputy Collector of Fyzabad, who was one of the principal Attachés.

MILITARY INTELLIGENCE.

BOMBAY ARRIVALS, JUNE 27.—Brett, Major, R. E. on duty from Simla.

Browne, Capt., 47 Sikhs, on leave, from Attock.

THE LAHORE RIOT CASE.

Full Details.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

LAHORE, JUNE 27.

The Lahore riot trial opened in the Commissioner's Court before Mr. Boyd, Special Magistrate. The charges were under sections 332 and 447 of the Indian Penal Code. All the accused were present, except Nos. 1, 9 and 12. The Crown was represented by Mr. C. Bevan Petman, Assistant Legal Remembrancer, and the accused Nand Singh, Gowardhan Dass, Ram Singh, Ghasita Ram, and Ram Chand by Mr. K. C. Chatterji, Pleader. The rest of the accused appeared in person. The charges arose out of the riots in Lahore on April 16.

Mr. Phillips, Deputy Superintendent of Police, Lahore, stated :—On the 16th of April last at about 11-40 when I was at the Police Office the Superintendent of Police sent for me and gave me a letter which he had received from the Registrar of the Punjab Chief Court in which the Registrar said that the police were wanted as the Judgment in the Punjabee case was going to be pronounced. Inspector Ganga Ram and I went to the Chief Court with one Sub-Inspector, one Head Constable and 16 constables and reported my arrival to the Registrar. Half an hour later the two prisoners were handed over to me. I placed the prisoners in a second class closed carriage in charge of the police and directed them to drive to the District Jail, Inspector Ganga Ram and I drove in a landau. There were some 200 or 300 people around the prisoners and in the Chief Court compound some of the crowd threw flowers on the prisoners and shouted 'Shame to the Judges, shame to the British Government,' and such like expressions. I got the carriage to move on the left of the Chief Court compound by the north east entrance opposite Lord Lawrence statue and went to Fane Road. Between the Chief Court gate and Fane Road the prisoners' carriage was stopped by the crowd. I got out of the carriage every time it was stopped and made it drive on. The further we went from the Chief Court the more abusive language was used by the crowd. Between Golak Nath's and Shadilal's houses I was pelted with clods. It was a very wet day. When I got to the end of Fane Road the prisoners' carriage was again stopped and I was struck in my carriage with a brick on my back. I got out and called on the people to move away. They would not, I went for them with my hunting crop and the crowd dispersed. I was returning to the carriage when 5, 6 or 7 persons assaulted me. Of these I can identify Ghasita Ram as being the person who struck me across the head with an umbrella. Kishen Singh, who is not present, set upon me as also Gowardhan Das. They struck me with their fists. Inspector Ganga Ram and my men came to my assistance and engaged my assailants. I rushed to the prisoners' carriage and got them out of it and put them into a landau and drove to the Jail. Dost Muhammad, Sub-Inspector and two constables were with me. I handed the prisoners over at the District Jail and passed through the garden on to the Mall oposite Government House. The reason of my taking this route was to see that a repetition of what occurred on the day of the conviction by Mr. Mant should not again happen. When I got opposite to the Queen's statue some natives called out to me that the Sahib log were being beaten down the Mall. This was confirmed by some Europeans standing in Messrs. Phelp's compound. When I drove further on, looking ahead I saw a crowd of about 200 or 250 men on the Mall crowding the whole width of it. When I got to the Lawrence Statue my coachman turned up the road to the Chief Court, but he had not gone 5 or 6 paces when I stopped him and jumped out and being joined by some men including Mr. Melvile of the 23rd Pioneers who happened to be coming from the direction of the Bombay Cycle Agency, I went towards the crowd. I saw a European being dragged from a tonga, thrown on the ground and beaten between Messrs. Plumer's and the Chief Court compounds. The crowd got intimation of my coming and bolted. The European gentleman came up in my direction. I subsequently learnt he was Mr. Graham. I followed the crowd to the cross road near the Post Office. Some went to the left; some in the direction of the Telegraph Office, and the main body straight a head. When I got to a point between the Bank of Bengal and the Post Office a European, whom I afterwards recognized to be Mr. Schultze, jumped out of his tonga and beckoned to me to come up. Some of my men were ahead of me. They rushed forward at my bidding. When I got up I saw a tussle between some of my men and the accused Kishen Singh, Bhali Ham and Gandherb Sen. I separated the police and the three men. Mr. Schultze said he charged these men as having assaulted and abused him. I ordered my men to take the three men to the police station. I identify Kishen Singh as one of my assailants at the end of Fane Road. I then drove on to the Police Office and reported all the circumstances to the Superintendent of Police and the Deputy Commissioner and subsequently to the Deputy Inspector-General of Police and the Commissioner.

Cross-examination was reserved.

Ghulam Husain, Constable of the Detective Police, stated :—

I went to the Chief Court on April 15th, but the Barristers said to a crowd of 400 or 500 persons who were there that the judgment will be delivered to-morrow. On April 16th I again went. Nand Kishore came at 11 a. m. and distributed flowers to different persons. Two carriages were brought in by the police. First they were made to stand at the Chief Court gate and afterwards by the room of Mr. Justice Reid. Ajit Singh and Nand Kishore told the crowd to stand in groups at all the gates of the Chief Court so as to inform others when the accused passed by any one group. Some remained in the compound. The accused were called to the Court-room and were, from inside, taken to the place where the gharris were standing. One of the Barristers came out of the Court-room and said that the imprisonment was changed from rigorous to simple. When the people in the compound heard this they ran to the gharris and shouted "Bande Mataram" "Bharat Mata Ki Jai" and such like expressions. The men who had got flowers threw them on the prisoners. Nand Kishore garlanded both the prisoners. All the accused present in Court were at the Chief Court. The gharri of the prisoners was driven towards the gate near John Lawrence statue and was then turned to Fane Road.

The witness corroborated the previous witnesses generally. Continuing witness said :—

After Mr. Phillips had driven away the prisoners in his own gharri some 70 or 80 men out of the mob came to Temple Road. I was with them. Several suggestions were made there. Some said the Jail should be looted; some said Mr. Mant's house should be looted ; others said the Europeans shops should be attacked. Kishen Singh told the mob "people are dying of plague; two brothers of ours have been imprisoned; we all should go to the Mall and attack every European we come across and if we are captured we should think that we have been attacked by plague." On this they all went to the Mall.

The witness here gave accounts of several attacks made by the mob on Europeans till they arrived near the statue of Lord Lawrence when Mr. Phillips arrived driving. The witness then corroborated generally the statement of Mr. Phillips as regards his jumping out of his carriage and further on about the arrest of Kishen Singh, Bhali Ram and Gandherb Sen.

Continuing witness said :—When Mr. Phillips drove away Ram Singh suggested to others that they should go to the Thana and be put in the lock-up with the three men arrested. They did not go to the Thana but returned to the city. Ajit Singh delivered a lecture the same day at 5 p. m. in the "Bhart Mata" compound. After the lecture was over a crowd of men consisting of those, who had attacked the Europeans on the Mall, went in procession to the premises of the Punjabi Press and offered congratulations to Jaswant Rai's father when they were arrested. During the day I met them: these men were coming from the Kotwali after they were released on bail. A European was shopping at Mohant Charan Das's. The mob attacked him, but he went into the shop. The mob then came to the Mayo Hospital. They saw four ladies there. They threw bricks on them and shouted "Shame, shame." The ladies ran away.

Mr. Robinson, Works Manager, North-Western Railway Workshops, was then called. He stated that on May 2nd an application was presented at about 10-30 a. m., asking for a half holiday on the pretext of a religious ceremony. Though the men stated it was a Hindu festival I noticed that the Muhammadans also asked for leave, and remarked : "It is a Hindu festival what do you, Muhammadans, want with it?" Mahmedji replied : "The Muhammadans also join in these festivals." I then reasoned with the men saying that the application was presented at a most inopportune moment as they had just made representations to the Loco Superintendent as to the meagreness of their earnings and that their asking for leave at such a time would only convince the Loco Superintendent that the actual facts had not been stated in their petition and I advised them to abandon their request for a half holiday. Both the Hindus and the Muhammadans urged upon me the importance of the occasion. I looked at the list and found it was not a gazetted holiday. This too I pointed out. It was now close on breakfast time. The men were impatient and were urging me to forward the application if I could not grant the leave. This I did accordingly with an endorsement that if the leave was not granted, the applicants said the absentees would be numerous. To avoid delay I gave the application to two men to take. They returned shortly with the District Loco. Superintendent's endorsement asking the name of the festival. I turned to Mangal Singh (the name of one of the men). He with some hesitation, replied, "Chandar maka ashtame." I accordingly returned the paper with an endorsement giving the name given by Mangal Singh and recommending sanction in the circumstances. I recommended sanction as the men said that if leave was not granted the absentees would be numerous. At this moment the breakfest buzzer sounded. The men appeared most anxious and Mahomedji informed me that there was a case on in which the majority of the men were interested. I told the men I would await a reply from the District Officer. About ten minutes later the men returned saying the District Officer would give a decisive reply at 12-30. I told the men as no holiday was granted to inform the others that I expected all to return to work. I waited in office and as the men passed I heard anxious enquiries regarding the half holiday. When returning after breakfast Mangal Singh met me. He looked frightened and said the men had not returned to work and wanted a half holiday. I replied I presume all have heard the buzzer and knew they should be at work as no holiday had been granted. There were about 300 men and boys; they crowded uncomfortably close to me; so I faced round and repeated in a loud voice what I had said to Mangal Singh. They appeared dissatisfied and followed me in a body as far as the Church where they thinned off, only a few coming near the Workshop. On entering I noticed some men near the ticket office, and said : "If you have taken your tickets you should be at work ; if not the way out is still open." The men without hesitation turned and went out. On counting the men at work I found only 150 out, 1,763. I at once informed my superior and asked permission to close, but was ordered to work on with the men present. When I returned I saw Mangal Singh and Mahomdji trying to hide. I learnt they had not taken their tickets ; so I told them that their proper place was outside. Going round the Workshop I noticed that the men present were fearing the reception they world get after work. I informed my superior and he reiterated his former order and added that I should inform the men that they would lose the whole day's wages if they left their work. This I did when the Foreman presented a pass for sigoature to permit his men to leave. I signed the pass, the remaining men at once followed to leave. As no men remained I closed the Workshop and went home at 3-30.

In cross examination by Mr. Bodhraj the witness stated.

The Muhammadans predominate on account of coolie labour. There are about 400 or 500 Sikhs, 350 or 400 Hindus. On May 2nd between 1,300 and 1,400 men came to work in the morning.

Marsh Heard, a fitter, deposed to hearing a man lecturing to about 100 men just outside the gate of the Workshop. The lecturer was asking the men to go to the Court, as the Pleaders' case was coming on. He said : "Hindus and Mahommadans. Now is the time to become one. All to become one. It will benefit you hereafter as the Government will not be able to do anything to us :" On enquiry I learnt that the lecturer was called Tunda. When the men came in they applied for a half holiday which was not granted. At 11-15 when returning to work after breakfast I saw Ghulam Muhammed of the boiler-shop standing at the gate with a stick in his hand preventing the men from returning to work. I spoke to Muhammadji about the interference. He replied that he did not care as he could earn five rupees a day as a blacksmith.

POLITICAL MEETING IN MADRAS.

Interference by the Police.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

MADRAS, JUNE 27.

During the past week or so some students have been holding open air meetings in People's Park just behind the Moore Market, the speeches delivered being on political subjects and to say the least, extremely fiery.

On Tuesday night the police tried to persuade one such meeting to disperse, but did not succeed. They then called in the assistance of the contractor who rents the grounds immediately surrounding the Moore Market. On this gentleman representing to the conveners of the meeting that they would have to pay rent for utilising any part of the grounds for holding meetings, the students rather sulkily dispersed.

I understand that the reason for the police trying to interfere in the matter was that they apprehended a breach of the peace, inasmuch as in all the bazaars in the neighbourhood non-Swadeshi articles are being daily exhibited for sale. The bazarmen do not like the idea of their customers being in any way affected by the would-be economists.

AMERICAN MISSION AT PINDI.

Contribution by the 51st Sikhs.

RIOTERS' DAMAGE MADE GOOD.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

LAHORE, JUNE 27.

A sum of Rs. 50 has been received by the Deputy Commissioner of Rawalpindi on behalf of the local American Mission. It is a contribution towards the repairs of the damage done to the Mission Church and buildings during the recent riots, and has been spontaneously subscribed by the Muhammadan Officers and men of the 51st Sikhs as a mark of sympathy for the Mission and as a token of their disapproval of the actions resulting in damage.

MURDER OF INSPECTOR CRABBE.

Assam-Bengal Railway.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

CALCUTTA, JUNE 27.

Chittagong, June 26.—Further details of the murder on the Assam-Bengal Railway show that Mr. Crabbe remarked to a fellow-passenger that there was a thief in the train and that he meant to arrest him. It is said that he surprised a man in his compartment who was cutting open his bag, and it is presumed that he endeavoured to arrest him, but was stabbed straight to the heart in his attempt. Blood stains point to the fact that Crabbe travelled some little way on the foot-board, and from where they ceased, he probably fell off on the line.

The body was brought into Chittagong the same night and the remains were accorded a military funeral.

The Assam-Bengal Railway Band was in attendance.

THE members of the Railway Finance Committee most likely to visit India are understood to be Sir James Mackay, Sir Walter Lawrence and possibly Mr. Schuster. The middle of December next would be the time for their arrival in this country.

THE BANDMANN THEATRE SITE.

The following excerpts from the Proceedings of a Special Meeting of the Trustees for the Improvement of the City of Bombay, held on the 18th June,

Considered papers on the following letter from Mr. S. N. Guzder, lessee of plot No. 1, Princess Street, dated the 31st May :—

I have the honour to draw your attention to my letter to the Secretary, dated 9th instant, and to the reply of the Secretary, dated 28th instant, and in continuation of the same I have the honour to address you this letter, as I find that although the reply of the Secretary makes a mention of my letter of the 8th instant, having been placed before you, I regret to note that that portion of my letter complaining about the leasing of the plot opposite my house for a theatre has been passed over in complete silence. I find that the Secretary complains of the tone of my letter, which, he says, is not calculated to inspire any sympathetic consideration of my case, but I have to point out that considering the way in which the correspondence has been carried on by the Trust so far as the calculation of the period was concerned, I am of opinion that there is nothing in the tone of my letter to which any exception could be taken. I further beg to say that in putting my grievances and complaints before the Trust I am not seeking any sympathy or favour, but I stand on my legal rights and am endeavouring by means of correspondence to bring about an amicable settlement, if possible, without unnecessary litigation. I may mention that with respect to the so-called concession given to me in extending the free building period, I am not satisfied with the same, and I shall in due course write to the Secretary about it, but my present object is to draw your immediate attention to a more important matter which is likely to cause me serious damage in absolutely ruining the building which I am putting up on my plot. I am advised that the action of the Trustees in allowing a theatre to be built on the plot opposite my house is in direct contravention of the contract with me, and I am further advised to take this matter to a court of law if I do not meet with proper redress at your hands after putting before you all the facts, and I crave leave to trespass on your indulgence at some length and proceed to give you a full resume of all the facts.

On the 7th instant, when I came to know for the first time that the Trustees were negotiating to lease out plots opposite my house for a theatre, I wrote to the Secretary protesting against leasing out this site for a theatre as it would be a great nuisance to the residents in my house, but no notice has been hitherto taken of my complaint.

The site now proposed to be leased out to Messrs. Bandmann & Co., and the plot which has been leased out to me as also the adjoining plots were advertised and put to auction in November 1905 on condition that the plots so advertised for being leased were meant for residential purposes only.

My submission is that one of the terms of the contract upon which I took a lease of my plot was that all the surrounding plots would be built upon for residential purposes only as the Board had already guaranteed and represented.

I paid nearly double the rent than the Boards reserved bid and taking the heavy rise in the price of building materials, I am afraid the return on my capital will be very small,

The building of a theatre opposite my house will be a positive nuisance to the residents no matter whether they had not only reduced smoke but had also economised fuel. Among the recommendations of the Board of General Health was the following :—"That great facility would be afforded by the appointment of officers specially qualified and not connected with any patents or manufacturer of boilers or furnaces, to superintend the police officer employed to suppress the nuisance of smoke, and to advise owners of furnaces how best to comply with the provisions of the law."

From enquiries made in 1866 it appeared that in Sheffield, between 1855 and 1865, 445 convictions were obtained against smoke producers, the smallest number in one year being 4 in 1860 and the highest 74 in 1865. Mr. Nicholson discusses the Public Health Act, 1875, in so far as it relates to prosecutions for the production of unnecessary smoke, and his treatment of Sections 334 and 91, demanding that "everything shall be done as far as is practicable to prevent nuisances" might be read with advantage by Bombay Magistrates. The Sheffield Magistrates, who have a practical knowledge of the local processes of manufacture, would not be satisfied with the assurances of the culprits or of the friends they got to back them, and on appeal the Judge of the Quarter Sessions maintained the convictions of the Magistrates. If, for example, boilers are added to the battery of a mill until the draught is reduced to a quarter of an inch in the furnace and all attempts have failed to reduce the smoke coming from the chimney, the owner could not plead that all had been done as far as was practicable to burn the smoke. Having overloaded his chimney the real and only remedy would be to increase the draught by one of the many devices now available. Mr. Nicholson says :—"The boiler ought to be properly set, the flues large, the chimney tall, and provision be made that the fireman can see the top of the chimney from the boiler front. Two boilers are sufficient for one man to fire satisfactorily."

Illustrated descriptions are given of all the best known furnaces and mechanical stokers, and a chapter is devoted to the smoke from private dwellings, and to an elaborate system of tests made on domestic fires at the Crystal Palace. One subject alone seems to have been somewhat overlooked. The measurement of furnace draughts by means of a gauge, and the amount of draught required in the furnace for the proper combustion of various fuels at various rates, has no mention. A draught gauge is just as necessary to the boiler furnace as the indicator is to the engine. The gauge has often disclosed a loss of three quarters of the chimney draught through flue friction.

All steam users must understand that with less than a certain amount of draught in the furnace the prevention of smoke is impossible.

The final chapter tells something of the excellent work that is being done by the Coal Smoke Abatement Society of London.

THE BERAR MANUFACTURING Co., Ld.

THE twenty-second ordinary general meeting of the shareholders of the above-named Company was held yesterday afternoon in the registered office of the Company in Dalal Street, Fort, Mr. M. B. Dadabhoy presiding in the absence of Mr. S. M. Nicholson, the Chairman of the Board of Directors.

The following report of the Directors for the year ending 31st December last was adopted, and resolutions were carried in conformity with the recommendations of the Directors made therein :—

"Your directors beg to submit their annual report and Audited Balance Sheet and profit and loss account for the year ending 31st December 1906. The net profit of the Company is Rs. 1,26,863-7-0 including Rs. 24,416-13-10 brought forward from the last year, which amount is now available for disposal and which the Directors recommend to appropriate as under :—To be paid as Dividend at Rs. 20 per share, Rs. 55,000; to be carried to depreciation of Machinery a/c, Rs. 20,000; to be carried to next year's account, Rs. 51,863 ; Total Rs. 1,26,863. Your Directors have the pleasure to report that the whole of the new machinery for which an order was placed with Messrs. Platt Brothers, as mentioned in the last Annual Report, has arrived and is now in full working order and giving satisfactory results. Your Directors had subsequently placed an order with the same Firm for machinery consisting of 1 Crighton Opener, 1 Intermediate Scutcher, 1 Finisher Scutcher and had ordered out one Greenhalls Willow through Messrs. Bradbury Brady & Co., to replace similar old machinery. This machinery had recently arrived and is now in course of erection. Your Directors beg to report that since the last meeting was held there has been a considerable change in the personal of the Agency and the Directorate of the Company. The Agency of the Mill has changed hands and two of the oldest Directors, Messrs. Edulji Nusserwanji Sethna and Jehangir Edulji Davur, having resigned, there place had to be filled up by the appointment of new Directors. Your Directors accepted with great regret the resignation of Mr. Edulji Nusserwanji Sethna, and place on record their high appreciation of the valuable services he had rendered to the Company from its very formation. As already informed through printed circulars addressed to the Shareholders on 10th January last, an Extraordinary General Meeting of the Shareholders was held on the 17th December 1906 and according to the Resolution passed thereat and confirmed at a subsequent Meeting held on the 3rd January has the firm of Messrs. Kasturchand Daga and Sons were appointed Agents of the Company in place of Messrs. Jehangir Hormusji and Company. The new Agents took over charge of their office on 4th January last. Your Directors regret very much to bring to your notice defalcations to the extent of Rs 16,000 or thereabouts committed from time to time by the Company's late cashier at Badnera, Nowroji Dadabhoy Mody. These defalcations were committed during the tenancy of the Agency of the late Agents, Messrs. Jehangir Hormusji and Company, covering a period of nearly 5 years commencing from 1902 to 1906 The New Agents discovered the defalcations on taking charge of the office and promptly brought the matter to the notice of the Directors. Criminal proceedings against the cashier were immediately instituted at Amaoti and a warrant of arrest has been issued, but your Directors regret to state that owing to the cashier having absconded and remaining in hiding, the Police have not yet been able to trace him, but your Directors hope that ere long he will be brought to book. Your Directors apprehend that there is very little hope of the recovery of the amount of the defalcations which it is feared will have eventually to be written off. The following Directors were appointed from time to time to fill up casual vacancies and to complete the requ red complement of the Board, viz. Messrs. M. B. Dadabhoy, Brijvalabdas Daga, Hormusji Nusserwanji Ghista and Radhakisen Joravurmul. Their appointments are to be confirmed under the Articles of Association and the Board therefore requests that you will accord your formal sanction to the appointments as aforesaid It is to be noted that Mr. Brijvalabdas Daga has resigned since his appointment, his place having been taken up by Mr. Radhakisen Joravurmul. Two of your Directors, Messrs. Sorabji Muncherji Nicholson and Radhakisen Joravurmul retire by rotation but are eligible for re-election."

A dividend, as recommended in the report, was declared ; retiring directors were re-elected and Mr. N. S. Jamsetjee and Messrs. Coatractor and Mehta were appointed auditors for the current year on a remuneration of Rs. 200 each.

The usual complimentary vote to the Chairman closed the business before the meeting.

REFERRING to the Relief Fund for the sufferers from the Batticaloa cyclone, the Ceylon Observer remarks :—His Excellency the Governor said that the great danger of the future was the spreading of the beetle pest over those (cocoanut) fields. He saw no grounds whatever for a Government loan,' but later 'the Government would not be justified in granting a loan for the purpose of the rehabilitation of those estates.' There was a difference between a loan for the last named purpose and one for the special purpose of clearing and delivering the injured estates from the cocoanut beetle ; but His Excellency, though unable to grant either, has seen his way to allow a vote of Rs. 100,000.

SIR HENRY BLAKE, the District Grand Master, is to be entertained to a farewell dinner by Freemasons, at the Queen's Hotel, Kandy, on the 1st July. Sir Henry and Lady Blake hold a farewell reception at King's Pavilion, Kandy, and the Governor will be presented with an address by the Legislative Council on the eve of his departure.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.—Sudden changes of temperature sorely try persons prone to rheumatism, sciatica, its dolourcux and many maladies scarcely less painful, though of shorter duration. On the first attack of stiffness or suffering in any muscle joint or nerve, recourse should immediately be had to fomenting the seat of disease with hot brine and rubbing in this remarkable Ointment, which will assuage the uneasiness of the part, subdue inflammation and reduce the swelling. The Pills simultaneously taken will rectify constitutional disturbances and renew the strength. No remedy heretofore discovered has proved so effective as the Ointment and Pills, for removing gouty, rheumatic and scrofulous attacks which afflict all ages and are commonly called hereditary.

The Lords Resolution Text.

The text of the Premier's Lords Resolution which was discussed on Monday runs :—In order to give effect to the will of the people as expressed by the elected representatives, it is necessary that the power of other House to alter or reject Bills be so restricted by l w as to secure that within the limits of a single Parliament, the final decision of the Commons shall prevail.

The Times says it carries no practical consequences but foreshadows a policy of virtual abolition of the Lords.

The Lords' Select Committee to consider the Lords Reform Bill includes the Duke of Devonshire, Lords Lansdowne, Rosebery, St. Aldwyn, Burton, Courtney, Selby and Ribblesdale.

In the Commons, the Premier said that the Lords Resolution was a small preface, to the 'Volume.' It is possible that Mr. Balfour understood the Volume would consist of a preface which the Premier said was to decide whether the Volume should be printed.

SPORTING NEWS.

FOOTBALL.

The Harwood League.

Yesterday on the Cooperage the Royal Scots "B" met the Customs and, as was naturally expected, a very one-sided game was seen. A good number turned out and though a drizzle fell on play being resumed after half time, they could watch the game in comfort, thanks to the covered seats that the Committee have had erected. There was not much wind either way but the ground got slippery when the rain fell. Though the military team pressed from beginning to end and the backs were only called on at intervals, they were not out for a record breaking total and indulged in sporting long shots.

From the kick off Newbigging sent out to Parkes and they looked like scoring within twenty seconds of the start but only secured a corner. Parkes again sent in a fine centre but Wright's shot hit the cross bar and Newbigging sent over from a very easy position. The two insides, McIntosh and Ross, now took pot shots and on one occasion these two and Parkes took consecutive shots but did not score and Newbigging headed just to the left. The first goal at last came through the really fine flying shot by Wright who sent in so hard that the ball coming down off the cross bar rose and struck it again hard. The defending backs hooked it out but a goal had already been signalled. Ross and Wright kept spectators entertained with some pretty play on the right wing and from a centre Newbigging narrowly missed heading in. The Customs backs were defending well and the left half. The centre again missed a chance and a shot by Wright led to an exciting time till they were pulled up for fouling the custodian. A second goal came from a perfect centre by Parkes off which Ross had no difficulty in scoring. More pot shots by Ross and McIntyre and a fine unproductive run by Newbigging, and the half time whistle went with the Scot's leading by two goals to nil.

Rain began to fall during the interval and kept on in a drizzle for some time. This half was a repetition of the first, the Customs backs defended gamely but were continually pressed. A third goal came very soon put in by Newbigging from a centre by Parkes into the goal mouth. After Hildred had nearly headed into his own goal Wright sent across to McIntyre and he put in a fourth. A shot from the 25 by Newbigging struck the cross-bar and Ross headed just to the right before Parkes gave in to McIntyre. He put in a dashing run passing halves and backs and literally dribbled into goal. Soon after Wright gave Newbigging a chance, he shot and McIntyre put it through but was given off-side. Ross and McIntyre then missed badly and McIntyre followed with a magnificent run from the half way line right into goal. This was the sixth and last goal as though Lakin sent in a good long shot, the whistle went for full time with the score as under :—

The Rugby Football Season opened yesterday with a practice amongst Bombay Gymkhana members on the Oval. After their meeting on Wednesday we expect the Y. M. C. A. to start shortly.

The erection of an owning over the chairs for spectators is an excellent move on the part of the Rovers Committee. This will enable those who turn out to watch the games in comfort shielded from both the rain and the sun. The public should show their appreciation of these efforts in their interests by becoming subscribers to the League.

This is not asking much as the price is nearly a nominal one of Rs. 3. for the Season.

THE BOMBAY GYMKHANA TEAM.—The following is the team selected to play the B. B. and C. I. Ry. on the Gymkhana ground at 11 a.m. to-day :—Lt. Phelirich (Capt.), G. N. Lemich, G. De. Rhe Philipe, C. Burns, Major Rich, R. G. A., F. P. West, B.G. Gillelt, I. L. Ainsworth, A. H. S. Aston and G. E. Coombes.

BOMBAY MUNICIPAL CORPORATION.

A meeting of the members of the Bombay Municipal Corporation was held yesterday afternoon in the Municipal Hall, the Hon'ble Mr. Vithaldas Damodhar Thackersey, the President, in the chair.

TRAMWAY STOPPAGES.

In accordance with a previous notice, Dr. Jehangir J. Cursetji proposed—"That the Municipal Commissioner be requested to report (1) whether in view of the recent electrification of the Bombay Tramways system, necessitating a compulsory waiting of passengers in the open air and under the sun at certain appointed stations located at considerable distances along the various tram-routes and thereby putting them to great inconvenience which in the case of ladies and children amounts to a positive hardship owing to there being no provision whatever for an adequate protection of passengers from sun and rain, the Bombay Electric Power and Traction Company have expressed any intention to put up at an early date small roadside stopping places for passengers near such stations? (2) Whether the Commissioner anticipating the urgent need of the passengers in this matter has arrived at any definite arrangement with the Managing Director of the Company with regard to it? (3) If not, the Commissioner be requested to submit within a fortnight after consulting the Tramway and Co., a report indicating the cheapest and most convenient means of affording this much needed protection to passengers, and to furnish to the Corporation, a complete scheme, with plans for such roadside resting places."

As no councillor seconded the proposition, it fell through.

ATTITUDE OF THE MANAGER OF THE TRAMWAYS.

Dr. Jehangir J. Cursetji next proposed the following proposition of which he had given previous notice :—"That the Municipal Commissioner be requested to report at an early date whether he has taken any steps to remedy the several defects and dangers in the newly established Electric Tram Service in the City as revealed by its working during the past few weeks, and emphasised by the complaints made by the general public regarding some of them in the local Press, both English and Vernacular and by various newspaper articles. (2.) That he be also requested to lay before the Corporation along with his report (a) any correspondence that may have passed regarding the defects, between him and the Managing Director of the B. E. P. T. Co. (b) any re the model care on which the present cars are constructed, (c) as well as any relating to the erection of the central electric pillars along certain routes. (3.) That the Commissioner be further requested to report the measures to be adopted to have some of the chief defects in the present Tram service remedied in the best way possible."

The proposition having been seconded, Dr. Sukhia informed the Corporation that he happened to be present last week when a conference was held between the Municipal Commissioner and the Acting Managing Director of the Tramway Company and he could at once tell members that the Managing Director appeared to him to be "obstinately adhered to his own opinion" and did not appear to be disposed to make any alteration in the arrangements and work already done by his Company. He declined to consider the public convenience. The Municipal Commissioner tried his best and he (Dr. Sukhia) assured the Corporation that that Officer had done his utmost to prevail upon the Managing Director of the Tramways to remove certain evils, but nothing could pursuade him. Under such circumstances Dr. Sukhia would suggest that now the Corporation might take up a similar attitude and the Municipality should decline to grant the application of the Tramway Co. for permission to put up central posts on the Carnac road unless that Company agreed to light every post they proposed to put up.

The proposition being put to vote was rejected,

The Corporation then adjourned to Monday next,

"I SAW Mr. and Mrs. J. Chamberlain driving in Hyde Park to-day," says a Daily News scribe. "Mr. Chamberlain was very bronzed and certainly, from a casual glance, did not look by any means the invalid he has of late been reputed to be."

THE WEATHER.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]

SIMLA, JUNE 27.

The depression which yesterday was in Chota Nagpur has extended in a west-north-westerly direction and has become diffuse. Winds from the Bay in consequence are flowing up the Ganjetic plain as far as Meerut ; but no rain has yet been reported from the United Provinces. In the Central Provinces, the West Coast of the Peninsula, the Arabian Sea monsoon has given light to moderate rain, but in the extreme South monsoon conditions are only feebly marked, and in Rajputana skies are practicaly clear. Another disturbance has occurred affecting the weather in Kashmir.

In Burma rainfall has been nearly general. On the coast a few falls occurred ; in the interior Tavoy had 3 inches; Moulmein, 4 ; Rangoon 3 ; Bassein one and a half; Akyab 9; Tougoo one and a half; Bhamo one; and Myitkyina 3. Skies are thickly clouded in the greater part of the province. Humidity and temperature are normal.

In North-East India and Orissa local rain has fallen, the principal amounts being Dibrugarh, Sibsagar and Silchar, a quarter inch ; Cherrapoonjee 8 ; Barisal and Purnea half ; Patna and Ranchi a quarter, and Balasore half. Skies are moderately clouded. Humidity is normal. The weather is cooler than usual in Chota Nagpur and South Bihar. Ttemperature is nearly normal elsewhere.

In the United Provinces, Central India, and the Central Provinces rain has fallen in the east and south of the Central Provinces, Pendra reporting 3inches; Raipur a quarter ; Nagpur 1¼ ; Amraoti a quarter ; Akola half; and Chanda one. Skies are moderately to thickly clouded except in the west of the United Provinces where they remain almost clear. The air is much drier than usual in the United Provinces ; damper in the area of rainfall in the Central Provinces Humidity is nearly normal ; elsewhere temperature has fallen in the Central Provinces. It is below normal in a few stations in the south-east area ; but in the remainder of the division it remains considerably above normal.

In North-west India light to moderate cloud appeared. In the extreme North, skies are moderately clouded. In Sind and Gujerat it is almost clear ; elsewhere humidity is nearly normal except in the Frontier Province, the Punjab, and Rajputana where it is in defect. Temperature has risen generally. The weather is considerably warmer than usual except in Kashmir, Baluchistan, Sind and Gujrat where temperature is approximately normal.

In the Peninsula the following rainfall occurred :—Malegaon half an inch; Sholapur a quarter; Ratnagiri one and a half; Belgaum a quarter; Marmagao 3 ; Karwar and Mangalore one; Mernara half ; Calicut 3; Coimbatore a quarter ; and Cochin half. Skies are clear or only lightly clouded in the south-eastern districts ; and moderately to thickly clouded elsewhere. Humidity and temperature are nearly normal.

Nearly general rain is likely on the Burma Coast and the West Coast of the Peninsula. Local rain is likely in the interior of Burma, North-East India, and the Central Provinces. A few falls are likely in the United Provinces, Central India, East Gujarat and the Deccan.

SUMMARY.

Pressure has fallen briskly at Ajmer, Jacobabad and Lahore and has changed irregularly and by small amounts elsewhere.

Winds are north-easterly to south-easterly in the Punjab, United Provinces, the Indus Valley and at Calicut, while they are south-westerly to north-westerly elsewhere. The force has been fresh to strong in Lower Sind, Gujarat, Rajputana, Central India and over the Deccan.

Temperature.—The maximum is 9° in defect of normal at Raipur and 5° to 12° in excess at several other places ; minimum is 5° in defect at Nagpur and 5° to 8° in excess at Sangor, Neemuch, Deesa, Ajmer, Jaipur, Jhansi, Agra and Lahore. The highest temperature in the shade was 115° at Jacobabad and the lowest 66° at Bangalore.

Cloud and Humidity.—The sky is cloudy in almost all districts. Humidity is in moderate to considerable excess at Bangalore, Coimbatore, Ratnagiri, Mormugao, Karwar, Calicut, Sholapur, Akola, Indore, Raipur, Nagpur, Amraoti and Bhuj.

Rain has fallen along the coast from Cochin to Bombay and also at Belgaum, Sholapur, Aurangabad, Malegaon, Akola, Amraoti, Nagpur, Raipur and Khandwa. The principal falls are:—3·02" at Mormugao, 2·91" at Calicut and between one and two inches at Mangalore, Karwar, Ratnagiri, Malegaon and Nagpur.

Weather.—The abnormal chart indicates unsettled weather conditions in the Central Provinces and to the eastwards of Jubbulpore or Raipur. Weather is favourable for rain along the West Coast.

GIVING AWAY OUR "SECRETS."

Notable Visit to H. M. S. "Dreadnought."

OFFICIAL FARCE.

Four members of the French Naval Commission recently in England paid a visit to the dockyard at Portsmouth to be entrusted with naval construction secrets which were denied to our own Parliament "for reasons of policy."

The visitors were shown over the Dreadnought, and after having given her a thorough inspection, had the advantage of seeing how she was actually constructed by seeing the work on her sister-ship, the "Bellerophon," new building.

We quote the following from Lloyd's Shipping Gazette on this subject :—

Of late a great deal has been spoken and written regarding the absolute necessity of keeping the details of British naval construction secret, lest possible enemies of Great Britain on the Continent and elsewhere should make use of the information to our detriment in time of war. Considering the pains which foreign Governments notoriously take to possess themselves of just this information, the idea of secrecy in naval construction is foolish. So foolish is it, indeed, that many shipbuilders on the Admiralty List have looked consciously foolish in their obedience to the order. Not only the shipbuilders, but the Admiralty itself, are, however, bound to feel extremely foolish when the four members of the French Naval Commission visit Portsmouth.

"Not for a moment do we suggest that our French friends should be denied particulars of the 'Dreadnought.' But if it ever was sound policy to keep the details of our naval construction secret, it is surely the essence of folly to sanction this visit. We do not, of course, think that it was a sound policy."

UNWIELDY "DREADNOUGHT."

Nearly five months ago, the Home Fleet was created, with its headquarters at Sheerness, and the "Dreadnought" as its flagship, and the country was invited to admire the fine work of the Admiralty in placing the

BY THE WAY.

A REVIVING FASHION.

THE lady barber is becoming quite a commonplace of the business, according to a correspondent:—In White-week I passed hesitatingly beneath a barber's pole in a Derbyshire village, and saw, to my astonishment and confusion, a trim lady standing behind the chair. I submitted to her treatment, and endeavoured at the same time to find out how she had learned her art; but she seemed to resent the curiosity of a strange customer. "On the men of course. How do you suppose I?" she answered curtly. Yesterday afternoon I found that a "young lady learner" has been introduced into a suburban hairdresser's establishment which I sometimes visit. I have just chanced, in reading a very forgotten poem by Gay, to discover evidence that the lady barber is really only a revival after all. Apparently, indeed, 200 years ago the lady barber was a very expert and a very flourishing artist. When upon his "Journey to Exeter," Gay stayed a night at Axminster. There he had the pleasant experience which the following couplets celebrate:—

We rise, our boards demand the barber's art,
A female enters and performs the part:
The weighty golden chain adorns her neck
And three gold rings her skilful hand bedeck.
Smooth o'er our chin her easy fingers move,
Soft as when Venus stroked the beard of Jove.

A RUINED LAND MARK.

The destruction of the "Giant's Quoit" for road-metalling, in response to the instruction of the farmer in whose land it stood to "blast the thing down," reduces still further the diminishing number of those strange prehistoric stone monuments for which Cornwall is famous. The Giant's Quoit is not a rocking-stone, like the famous Logan stone; it is a large table-stone, 15ft. long and 9in. wide, supported at a height of about five feet from the ground on three rough pillars. It was upset in 1815 and replaced (though not in its original position) in 1824 by the unlucky naval lieutenant who upset the Logan stone, an incident which is perhaps worth recalling. The Logan stone, near Treryn's End, is a 70-ton block of granite poised so exactly on a point of rock that it can be rocked to and fro, hence the name Logan, or logging (rocking), stone. It was once popularly believed that it could not be displaced by any force, and in 1824 Lieutenant Goldsmith, who was in command of a Revenue cutter, to satisfy his own curiosity or to refute a vulgar error or for some other equally inadequate reason, landed a boat's crew and succeeded in upsetting it. This was easy and inexpensive, but the Admiralty promptly set him the task of putting it back again. He succeeded, but it cost him £2,000, and it is said that the stone has never rocked quite as well as it used to do. With the same machinery he set up the Giant's Quoit, now shattered so that all the King's naval lieutenants and all the King's men could not put it together again.

THE LARGEST ROCKING STONE.

Rocking stones are by no means confined to Cornwall, they are found all over England, and, indeed, all over the world. Some are of natural formation, due to the freakish forms taken by disintegrating rocks. The artificial ones have apparently been made by cutting away the rock below the rocking stone. From various evidences they are supposed to have had some religious use and significance. The stability of rocking stones is due to their shape, the centre of gravity being low, something like the egg-shaped dummies or pepper-boxes which are weighted with lead at the bottom and cannot be upset. The most astonishing rocking stone in the world is in Argentina, at Tandil, 200 miles south of Buenos Ayres. It weighs over 700 tons, but is so delicately balanced that it rocks in the wind and can be made to crack a walnut.

THE POINT OF VIEW.

The senior partner, the vigour of whose accents is unimpaired by advancing years, has been invited to distribute the prizes at a gymnastic display, and this involves the preparation of his first public speech. It is quite ready, in type, and the senior has been daily conning it over in his private office. To-day, growing proficient, he closed the door, and from the interior there proceeded the thunderous rumble of his eloquence. The office boy, with mouth and eyes distended, paused a while in his envelope-licking to listen, and then exclaimed in chastened accents, "Don't know 'oo's inside with the gov'nor, but never 'e is 'e's coppin' it!"

WINE AS BACTERICIDE.

In countries where the wine is good and the water is bad it is a popular theory that an admixture of the former is a safeguard against the injurious effects of the latter. Two chemists of the Pasteur Institute have been experimenting to find out whether there is any truth in this theory, and have decided that there is. Wine destroys the typhoid bacillus; if two drops of typhoid culture are added to wine in a test tube the bacilli are rapidly killed, and the same action takes place, though less quickly, when the bacilli are added to a mixture of wine and water. Different kinds of wine vary in their efficacy; white wine is more potent than red. Champagne is the most efficacious of all; it destroys the bacilli in less than ten minutes; but champagne-and-water is never likely to be a popular beverage with any one. Of red wines Beaune is one of the most powerful bactericides, taking less than thirty minutes to kill the bacilli, while others take two or three hours. If a mixture of wine and water is to be trusted, therefore, it must be prepared six to twelve hours beforehand. The popular theory is thus vindicated on the whole, but the expectant alcoholist, as the "British Medical Journal" points out, must not rejoice too soon. It is not the alcohol in the wine that has this wholesome effect, but the acid. Whisky will not do and the teetotaller may presumably use lemon juice with equal confidence.

A ROYAL BARRISTER.

Prince Arthur of Connaught, following in the footsteps of the King, the Prince of Wales, the Duke of Connaught, and Prince Christian, is about to be called to the English Bar. On Call Night of the present term he will be admitted a member of Gray's Inn, of which his father has long been a bencher. Immediately after his admission the Prince will be formally "called," and following this he will be elected a Master of the Bench. It is only members of the Royal family who are privileged to take part in three such important ceremonies in the course of a single evening. For the lawyer they are separated from one another by long years of arduous study and professional work.

MISCELLANY.

In the Northern Circuit (writes a correspondent) the late Mr. Harrison Blair (who was, I think, better known there as Falkner Blair) had some reputation as a wit. It fell to him once as a junior to show some ladies over the Courts in Strangeways during an assize. Coming upon two or three of the High Sheriff's liveried officers just outside the judges' rooms, one of the ladies asked what the javelins carried by the officers were used for. "Charging the Grand Jury," promptly replied Blair.

In the window of a tiny shop is the following notice:—

"To the thousands of ladies and gentlemen so eager to have a design of some description tattooed upon them, but have an awful dread of the operation, as being great torture, I wish to point out clearly that tattooing done with the electric needle by a competent person is, practically speaking, painless. It must not be compared with the old-fashioned method of prodding."

What a relief!

An article in this week's "India" criticises the average Englishman's complacent use of the terms "agitation" and "fanaticism," as explaining away any ferment in our dependencies. This attitude of mind, it says, was dramatised for us in a terse telegraphic message which appeared some years ago in the columns of the London press:—

"A new saint has appeared in the Swat Valley; the police are after him."

EXPENSIVE ELECTIONEERING.

The late Sir Charles Mark Palmer must have found electioneering rather dull after he became member for the Jarrow division, but at an earlier stage in his political career he fought some stirring political battles in North Durham. It was in 1874 that he first entered the fray as a candidate. Mr. (afterwards Sir George) Elliot, the "bonny pit laddie," was seeking re-election as a Conservative, and Mr. R. L. Pemberton was his colleague. Mr. Palmer and Mr. Lowthian Bell (neither of whom had had titles conferred upon them then) were the Liberal candidates, and they fought with an earnestness which secured them victory. Owing to a riot the election was declared void, but Mr. Palmer won again although he failed to carry Mr. Bell with him, Sir G Elliot coming in second. There were no limits on candidates' expenses in those days, and in North Durham money was spent with a liberality which was almost staggering. His five contests in North Durham probably cost Sir George Elliot not less than £50,000, and of course the Liberal candidates had to keep up a smart pace, although they were less lavish than the Conservative candidates in most cases, if not in all.

GREEN ROOM GOSSIP.

LONDON, JUNE 8.

THE DRAMA TO THE RESCUE.

WHATEVER the Drama is not, or not permitted to consider itself by the person who is jealous of its influence and popularity, it is certainly the most generous of all the Arts. It is the only one you can ask to work for nothing—because it is the only one that says, "Yes, certainly; with pleasure!" when you do so. You might have the most deserving of charities in your mind and at your heart when you went to a sculptor's studio on its behalf and asked for a bust, or a figure, or a group, as a contribution to its funds, but I doubt if you would find the sculptor ready to comply with your request. I do not know of a single instance of a hospital, or a church, or a cripples' home asking a painter to paint a picture or a novelist to write a book for it on such low terms as a mere acknowledgment of the favour in the newspapers. Nor am I aware of the existence of a musician who, on being asked for assistance for either of these institutions, would sit down to compose a song-cycle or an oratorio or an opera score—or even a simple and solitary song. But the people of the drama are continually giving away their work to charity. They write plays for charity, act them for charity, and spend money on them for charity. The Drama never seems to cease giving food and shelter to charity. If charity is feeling a draught upon its nakedness it at once goes to the Drama for clothing. The Drama covers a multitude of charities

SAVAGES AND CRIPPLES.

For the "matinee" at His Majesty's Theatre in aid of the Lord Mayor's Crippled Children's Fund quite a lot of original or expressly-made matter had been secured for presentation. Three authors—Messrs. Adrian Ross, Mostyn Pigott, and Fred Bowyer—and seven composers—too many for publication—had provided the amusing revue "Hands Up;" and that the Drama might not bear the entire burden of its performance, the "matinee's" "management" had arranged that a "policemen's chorus" should be sung by a sextette of wellknown black-and-white artists—L. Raven Hill, John Hassall, Douglas Almond, Penrhyn Stanlaws, Lance Thackeray, and Tom Browne. It is always good fun to watch how one man does another man's job, and the black-and-white artists at His Majesty's Theatre were responsible for "effects" which could not have been more comical if they had been produced under reversed conditions—if, that is, six musical-comedy chorusmen had been engaged to draw in public a set of pictures for "Punch" or posters for pills. These policemen reminded me of some lines that were written years ago on an amateur pantomime at the Gaiety, in which W. S. Gilbert was a harlequin, Lord de Clifford the customary Harlequinade "heavy swell," and Captain Colville a much-besieged policeman.

"There were leaps, fun in heaps; Captain Colville was good,
And acted as no 'peder' could, would, or should,
Lord de Clifford as swell was no end of a 'toff,'
And was quite unconcerned when his jasey dropped off.
McCalmont, young Ward, each elicited roars,
And Bastard the loudest of all the encores:
And Gilbert through all danced and postured with grace,
With a very determined expression of face."

There were other attractions besides "Hands Up" and its peculiarly artistic (in a sense) "policemen's chorus" at His Majesty's—notably a one-act play by Mr. Alfred Sutro, "Mr. Steinman's Corner," and a sketch, "The Marchioness," founded on Dickens's "Old Curiosity Shop," by the dramatic critic, Mr. B. W. Findon. A very good programme by very good people for a very good cause.

IN THE CASE OF CHARITY.

If I were to give publicity to all the charity and benefit "matinees" whose organisers seek it, I should have no room in the "Green Room" for any other subject. I hope, therefore, that in giving favour in one direction I shall not be giving offence in another. At the Lyceum, next Tuesday, the Drama will be discovered running to the rescue of the Children's Seaside Holiday Fund. Perhaps I should say that it is the Stage generally, rather than the Drama, that is to do the good work on this occasion, for I see that in addition to Miss Constance Collier, the beautiful Indian heroine, Adulola of "The Last of His Race," and Mrs. Lewis Waller (Miss Forence West of other days), the helpers include Miss Marie Lloyd, Mr. George Robey, Miss Billie Burke, and Mr. George Graves. On the afternoon of June 27th, at the Haymarket, the Stage gives its services to the Samaritan Free Hospital for Women. The programme offers an entertainment of very special quality, and a feature of the afternoon will be the serving of tea to the audience by such distinguished tea girls as Miss Marie Tempest, Miss Violet Vanbrugh, Miss Eva Moore, Miss Grace Lane, Miss Irene Vanbrugh, Miss Mary Moore, and Miss Marion Terry. The tickets of admission are one guinea each, entitling the purchaser to free refreshment, and I have been asked to say that Miss Marie Tempest (2 Portman Square, W.) and Miss Grace Lane (11 Bentinck Street, W.) are among others who have them for sale.

THE FANNY COLEMAN MATINEE.

On the following day, at the Royalty (generously lent for the occasion by Mr. Tom. B. Davis), the Grosvenor Hospital for Women is to be charity-*matinee*d by the Drama, the play of the afternoon being a three act farce—his first stage work—by Mr. J Storer Clouston, the young novelist who wrote "Count Bunker" and "Lunatic at Large." For the "Fanny Coleman Matinee" at the St. James's next Thursday there has been arranged by Mr. Jerrold Robertshaw a programme of quite exceptional length and strength. To mention but a few of the attractions, an act from "The Liars" will be given by Sir Charles Wyndham and his company, Mr. John Hare and Mr. Charles Groves will appear in "A Quiet Rubber," and Mrs. Patrick Campbell and her talented young daughter, Stella, in the second act of "Magda;" Miss Constance Collier and Mr. Jerrold Robertshaw will be seen in Mr. Kinsey Peile's English version of Catulle Mendès's "La Femme de Tabarin, The Mummer's Wife"—a title which will sound familiar to the ears of George Moore's readers, as well as to those of the officials at "Mudie's"; and Mr. Eric Lewis will appear with Miss Lottie Venne in a duologue which the actor has specially written for the occasion.

MADAME KATTI LANNER'S 'DOGS.'

Madame Katti Lanner's partsey, at the close of the first night performance of a ballet at the Empire, is always one of the features of the evening. I don't believe the audience would leave the theatre without it. I am reminded by Katti Lanner's bow of an experience she once had with a certain troupe of "bow-wows." They were not appearing at the Empire—where, by the way, her beautiful "Sir Roger de Coverley" ballet, with all its old-world prettiness, has proved one of the most successfull of her long series of "Empire triumphs"—but in the provinces of Austria and Hungary, and then many years before the house in Leicester Square was a home of ballet and a palace of varieties. When little more than a girl, and a lot less than a woman Madame Katti Lanner, "premiere danseuse" at the Italian Opera House, Vienna, was touring the provinces of Austria and Hungary; and one night, as she was travelling with the post (there was no railway then) past the Karpathen Mountains, with another "premiere danseuse," a "premier danseur," a mimic artist, and the postillion, a thing happened which, if the stars that were shining at the time had not been lucky ones, might have seriously interfered with the progress of Empire ballet in the years that were to come.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

It was in the winter time; the snow lay thick upon the dangerous roads, which ran the gauntlet of frowning mountains on the one side and the yawning precipices on the other; and the sleigh in which Katti Lanner and her friends were being driven was so loaded up with luggage that the party of travellers were obliged now and again to get out and walk, in order to relieve the struggling and steaming horses. It was in one of these relief walks that the young "premiere danseuse" lagged a little behind the others, and put her precious pet dog on the frozen ground to unlock his cramped little legs in a run. To her surprise Katti Lanner suddenly beheld, by the full moon, that there were a lot of dogs standing in a semi-circle behind her, and staring at her as if they had been the "corps de ballet" waiting for the conclusion of one of her "blameless dances." Fearing they might have gastronomic designs upon her little dog, although she was far from Chinese territory, the dancer picked her pet up and hurried off to join her companions, to whom she related her experience. The postillion took a particular interest in her story, but at the same time displayed unusal energy in preparing to continue the journey by sleigh, despite the fact that the horses were in a very unready condition for applying their strength to the full load of passengers and luggage. However, the postillion took no notice of the company's suggestion that they might as well walk another mile or two. He just went silently and swiftly about the work of "trimming" the sleigh for going ahead, and told the passengers to take their places. They obeyed, for he was wearing the air of a man that knew something. At the end of the journey he approached Katti Lanner and asked: "Miss, what did you think of the dogs you saw?" "I thought, as there were so many of them, that there must be a farm close by," answered the dancer. "They were wolves," said the postillion; "and I we may thank God for our narrow escape!"

MR. J. D. REES, M.P., writing to the Times in connection with a meeting at which he was said by that paper to be acting in concert with Sir Henry Cotton and Messrs. O'Donnell, Rutherford and some others regarding a proposed motion for a Royal Commission or a Parliamentary Committee to enquire into the unrest in India, remarks:—"I am of course, imperfectly acquainted with the views of all the Hon'ble Members who were present at the meeting, but of those above-named, Sir Henry Cotton, and Messrs. O'Donnell and Rutherford have never yet expressed an opinion regarding India from which I do not wholly, heartily and unreservedly dissent.

NO REST FROM BURNING HUMOUR

Painful Swellings Formed In Armpits and on Back—Itching Prevented Rest—Suffered Six Weeks and Became Run Down from Want of Sleep—Three Full Sets of

CUTICURA REMEDIES ENTIRELY CURED HIM

"I had been troubled with swellings under the armpits and on the small of the back accompanied by a burning itch to such an extent that I got very little rest, day or night. This had been going on for six weeks or more and I had tried various soothing ointments, these, however, gave only temporary relief, and as I was getting run down from the want of rest, I decided to consult a doctor, but on noticing the Cuticura Remedies advertised in the paper, I thought I would give them a trial. I used Cuticura Soap first, but this did not give the desired relief, then I tried Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment, and Cuticura Resolvent Pills for three successive times. I am thankful to say that, though my trouble was painful and severe, my cure was complete within a month, and I in the future shall urge any one whom I come across afflicted with skin-troubles to use Cuticura Remedies, knowing as I do the great good they have done me. I am never without a box of Cuticura Ointment in my home. Robert Beatson, 81, High St., Fort William, Dec. 6 and 12, 1906."

CUTICURA

The Great Skin Cure and Purest and Sweetest of Emollients.

Cuticura Ointment is, beyond question, the most successful curative for torturing, disfiguring humours of the skin and scalp, including loss of hair, yet compounded, in proof of which a single anointing with Cuticura Ointment, preceded by a hot bath with Cuticura Soap, and followed in the severer cases by a dose of Cuticura Pills, is often sufficient to afford immediate relief in the most distressing forms of itching, burning, and scaly humours, eczemas, rashes, and irritations, permit rest and sleep, and point to a speedy cure in the majority of cases, when all else fails.

A Single Set often Cures. Sold throughout the world. Depots: London, 27, Charterhouse Sq.; R. Towns & Co., Sydney; Lennon (Ltd.), Cape Town, etc.; B. K. Paul, Calcutta; Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props. Post-free, Cuticura Booklet.

LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL

THE PUREST. THE MOST PALATABLE. THE MOST DIGESTIBLE.
THE MOST EFFICACIOUS.

Incontestably proved by Forty Years' Medical Experience to be The only Cod Liver Oil which produces the full curative effects in

CONSUMPTION AND DISEASES OF THE CHEST, THROAT AFFECTIONS, GENERAL DEBILITY, DISEASES OF THE SKIN, WASTING DISEASES OF CHILDREN, RICKETS, AND ALL SCROFULOUS DISORDERS.

SELECT MEDICAL OPINIONS.

DR. PROSSER JAMES,
Lecturer on Materia Medica, London Hospital.

"Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL contains the whole of the active ingredients of the remedy, and is easily digested. Hence its value, not only in Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, but in a great number of cases to which the Profession is extending its use."

DR. SAUNDERS, C.B.,
Late Deputy Inspector-General Army Hospitals, Superintendent London Medical Mission.

"I have used Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL extensively among the sick poor of St. Giles's, and consider it a valuable remedy, especially in the Wasting Diseases of Children."

DR. HUNTER SEMPLE,
Physician to the Hospital for Diseases of the Throat and Chest, London.

"I have long been aware of the great reputation enjoyed by the LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL introduced into medical practice by Dr. DE JONGH, and have recommended it with the utmost confidence. I have no hesitation in stating my opinion, that it possesses all the qualities of a good and efficient medicine. Its taste is by no means disagreeable, and might even be called pleasant. I have found Dr. DE JONGH'S OIL very useful in cases of Chronic Cough, and especially in Laryngeal Disease complicated with Consumption."

DR. WHITMORE,
Medical Officer of Health, St. Marylebone, London.

"Myown somewhat lengthened experience as a Medical Practitioner enables me with confidence to recommend Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL as being more uniform in quality, more certain in its effects, more palatable, and infinitely less likely to disagree with the stomach than the Pale Oil. If I were asked for an explanation of the marked success which for so many years has attended the administration of Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL I should say that it is owing to its extraordinary medicinal, dietetic, and reginimal properties, and which are found to exist in no other medicine that I am acquainted with, in such uniform combination.

Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL is supplied ONLY in IMPERIAL Half-Pints, Pints and Quarts, sealed with Betts' Patent Capsule impressed on the top with Dr. DE JONGH'S Stamp, and on the side with his Signature, and the Signature of ANSAR, HARFORD & Co.; and bearing under the wrapper a Label with the same Stamp and Signatures. WITHOUT THESE MARKS NONE CAN POSSIBLY BE GENUINE.

Sold by all respectable Chemists, Druggists, and Storekeepers throughout the World.

DR. DE ROOS'

WORLD-FAMED

GUTTÆ VITÆ

Or, LIFE DROPS.

The Great European Remedy for Nervous and Functional Exhaustion.

This remarkable rejuvenating essence strengthens the vitality of the whole system, gives energy to the muscles, and speedily restores the impaired powers of [illegible] imparting strength and ...anic vigour to the most debilitated and worn out constitution. Those who suffer from Premature Decay, or deficiency of the Vital Forces, owing to dissipation, worry, overwork, excesses, or any other cause, will find this medicine just what they require. Equally adapted for the studious and sedentary; the aged and infirm; the nervous and debilitated; as also for delicate females and weakly children. All sufferers from loss of appetite, nervous headache, lassitude, and de pondency—too often accompanied with suicidal thoughts—should make immediate and fair unprejudiced trial of this wonderful medicine, which is daily effecting the most remarkable cures in patients who had been given up by the Faculty as incurable, and left to drag out the remainder of their [illegible] a misery to themselves, and a continual anxiety to their friends. In all cases of nervous and functional debility, epilepsy, [illegible] and poorness of the blood, aversion to and incapacity for society, study or business, giddiness, disturbed sleep, [illegible] dreams, loss of memory, and other symptoms, the result of self-acquired ailments that embitter and shorten life, it is truly unrivalled. To married persons especially, this preparation will prove invaluable, giving strength and vigour in place of lassitude and incompetency. Price 11s., or four times that quantity, 33s. per bottle.

Dr. DE ROOS' COMPOUND RENAL PILLS, for Pains in the Back, Gravel, Lumbago, Gout, Rheumatism, Diabetes, and all Kidney Affections; weakness across the loins, Sandy or other Deposits, Discharges, and Diseases of the Urinary Organs generally. Price 9s. 9d.

Dr. DE ROOS' VEGETABLE LIFE PILLS, for Indigestion, Biliousness, and all disorders of the Liver, Stomach and Bowels; whilst as a universal family medicine for both sexes, at all ages, they are unequalled. 13½d. and 2s. 9d. per Box.

Dr. DE ROOS' PILE AND FISTULA PILLS, the only reliable remedy for these annoying and painful ailments. The first dose gives relief, and in all ordinary cases a few days only are necessary to effect a cure. Price 2s. 9d. per Box.

Purchasers are particularly requested to see that every package of Dr. De Roos' Medicines bears the "British Government Stamp, with the words "WALTER DE ROOS Lond." impressed thereon in white letters on a red ground, and refuse worthless imitations frequently put forward by unscrupulous vendors for the sake of extra profit.

DEBILITATED and NERVOUS SUFFERERS should read the "Medical Adviser," by Dr. De Roos, on the secret causes of nervous debility, impotency, depression of spirits, and confirmed melancholy. Price 1s., post free from Mr. LAWES, Medical Publisher, 14 Sand Courts Holborn, London, W.C., or obtainable of the Agents for Dr. De Roos' Medicines.
